

- Completeness: determined from the presence/absence of marker genes and the expected colocalization of these genes
- Contamination: determined by the presence of multi-copy marker genes and the expected colocalization of these genes
- Strain heterogeneity: determined from the number of multi-copy markers which exceed a specified amino acid identity threshold